The McNugget Incident

You and your friend Nels are at a McDonalds and you have a serious craving for Chicken Nuggets. Knowing that you can buy chicken nuggets in boxes of 6, 9, or 20, you saunter up to the counter and demand a ridiculous, large number of chicken nuggets. The attendant thinks for a moment and says “I can’t sell you that many, but I can sell you any larger number of McNuggets. Would you like fries with that?” How many McNuggets did you attempt to order and is the attendant’s claim correct? Make sure to fully explain and justify your answer.
