

Game Design ESRB Permission Slip - 2018

Dear Parent/Guardian,

The Game Design class will be studying and playing a number of computer games, both during class and as homework. Some of these games may be rated “T for Teen” or “M for Mature” by the Entertainment Software Ratings Board (ESRB). According to school board policy, we require your permission to allow your son or daughter to play games rated M. If you are comfortable with allowing your child to play M-rated games while under adult supervision, please sign below.

If you do not want your child these games, there are alternative, non-M rated games to play, but be aware that other students may be playing M rated games in the class. Please note: There are no required M-rated games in the curriculum, and only one T-rated game.

Check as many as apply:

- I do grant my permission to allow my child to play T-rated games in class.
- I do grant my permission to allow my child to play M-rated games in class.
- I do not grant my permission to allow my child to play T-rated or M-rated games in class, and would like my child to be given alternative assignments.
